BILL OF RIGHTS, Amendment I

PLASTIC BAG BAN MAKES SENSE

There presently are 90 communities across the state that have banned the use of those ubiquitous single-use plastic bags that typically are found at check-out counters in all kinds of stores -- and which then typically end up strewn by the wind across our beaches and end up in our coastal waterways.

The Massachusetts legislature is considering a bill that would impose a state-wide ban, following the lead of Hawaii and California.

Environmental groups strongly support the ban, as does the Massachusetts Food Association, a trade group representing the supermarket and grocery store industry.

We also support a ban of these bags, which in our view represent the ultimate expression of our throw-away society that has proven so disastrous for our environment.

While these thin-film bags are recyclable on their own, they cannot be placed with other plastics because they literally will destroy the machines that process heavier plastics. (So if you are throwing these bags in with your plastic water bottles, you are doing more harm than good!)

However, looking at the larger picture, we are struck by this statistic: A full 32 percent of the 78 million tons of plastic packaging produced annually is left to flow into our oceans -- the equivalent of pouring one garbage truck of plastic into the ocean every minute.

Environmentalism is sort of like the weather: Everybody talks about it, but very few of us do anything about it. But each of us must take some degree of personal responsibility for making the planet a better place. The new Netflix series on the environment is sad and scary, both for the ecological damage that we already have caused all over the world and for the implications for the future.

One-use plastic bags certainly are convenient, but they are terrible for the environment. A ban on these bags will require each of us to bring a reusable bag for our shopping -- but that degree of inconvenience is a small, small price to pay for making our environment a better place.

TIGER'S MAGICAL WEEKEND OF REDEMPTION

We wish to state upfront that we are not golf fans.

But every now and then, there are moments in the realm of sports that transcend what is achieved on the playing field, ice, links, or court.

For example, the 1980 gold medal victory by the U.S. hockey team (captained by Winthrop's own Mike Eruzione), the 1967 Impossible Dream Boston Red Sox, Lou Gehrig's iconic speech at Yankee Stadium, and just about everything that Muhammad Ali accomplished readily comes to mind.

Such was the case this past weekend when Tiger Woods won the Masters golf tournament. After more than a decade of personal, physical (four back surgeries), and professional setbacks -- admittedly some self-inflicted -- Tiger's incredible, come-from-behind triumph spoke more about the human spirit than it did about golf. His victory was the ultimate redemption of a man who has achieved the greatest heights, but who had fallen to rock bottom.

When Tiger was embraced by his children and his mom after the last hole, we recalled a similar moment when he won his first Masters 22 years ago, with his late dad being present, when Tiger was a 21-year-old kid who destroyed the field by 12 strokes, still the record for margin of victory at the Masters.

But the close-ups of Tiger's face this weekend throughout the tournament revealed the visage of a middle-aged man, older and wiser, but no longer innocent -- and when he took off his cap at the end, his bald spots revealed that Tiger is not a kid anymore.

Tiger always has been a humble person and, despite his wealth and fame, has managed to put it all into perspective because of his modest upbringing and the adversity he faced because of his mixed race.

He did so once again in his post-victory interview. When he was asked how special it was for his mom to be there, he acknowledged that was true, but he quickly pointed out that he would not be where he is today without his mother, "because she was the one who packed me and my equipment into our Plymouth Duster and drove me for hours so I could play in tournaments when I was a youngster."

Those words truly touched us -- and we know we join not only with the sporting world, but with people of all backgrounds, in congratulating Tiger Woods on his greatest triumph -- which was about a lot more than winning a golf tournament.

It's a Guarantee: High-Quality Pre-K for All

By Mayor Martin J. Walsh

On April 2nd, we made a promise: in five years, Boston will achieve high-quality Universal Pre-Kindergarten for every four-year-old in the city. In the last five years, we've added 750 pre-K seats that are high-quality, and proven to close the achievement gap. Now, we're going to be investing $15 million in our new Quality Pre-K Fund, which will close the high-quality gap by adding an additional 750 high-quality seats in Boston Public Schools, and community-based organizations.

Through this commitment, we'll be able to achieve our goal: a high-quality Pre-Kindergarten seat for every 4-year-old in the City in the next five years.

To make Boston a place where everyone can succeed, we need to start at the very beginning. The moment a child is born, they need high-quality resources and a safe place to call home. And when they set foot into the classroom, they need a strong foundation to set them onto the path to success. We must make sure that every single child, from every background and neighborhood, can get a strong start in life.

Access to high quality pre-K should be a guarantee, for every single family in Boston, regardless of income or background.

Boston's approach to pre-K is a national model in early childhood education, and we have proven success in closing achievement gaps. It's because we offer some of the most comprehensive and high-quality programs in the country. Our teachers are trained to support students of all cultural backgrounds, they encourage critical and creative thinking, and they put the needs of our students first.

And the lessons children learn don't just stay in the classroom -- they have lasting impacts, all the way from kindergarten to college and beyond.

Every year, we've been working to expand this successful approach with the goal of reaching every single four-year-old in the City.

When I took office, we were facing a gap of 1,500 high-quality seats. Ensuring equal access to high-quality pre-kindergarten became one of our top priorities. We couldn't have done it without the partnership and dedication of educators, partners, organizations, and many more.

One of the first steps we took was creating a UPK Advisory Committee. The Committee gathered input from families, educators, and stakeholders. Their recommendations have been our guiding light in how

CITY LAUNCHES ENDEAVOR FOR 2020 CENSUS

Mayor Martin Walsh and many community leaders have vowed to make Boston count in the 2020 Census.

Having a complete update of the City's census is extremely important to the city and the Mayor has launched a one-year outreach campaign to make sure the U.S. Census is fair and accurate.

Community-based non-profit organizations will be encouraged to participate in preparing the 2020 census by using their resources and work with the city to complete and accurate document of every Boston resident possible.

This is a great opportunity for government and residents to band together in this endeavor which favors everyone.

RESIDENTS SHOULD ATTEND UPCOMING PUBLIC MEETING

Another City of Boston public meeting will be held at the Nazzaro Community Center, 30 North Bennett Street on Friday, April 25 at 6:30 PM to further discuss the study being conducted relating to the 100-year-old facility's status.

This is an extremely important meeting that residents should make it their business to attend.

A BANNER YEAR ON THE GREENWAY

The Greenway Conservancy annual report indicates another incredible year of the non-profit's management and care of the very popular Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy Greenway.

For 10 years, the Conservancy has developed many programs, events and activities in the park. Many (450) of them free of cost.

The Conservancy has taken its responsibilities to the highest level and will continue to do so.

Staff, volunteers, supporters and partners make The Greenway the Gem of the North End/Waterfront community.

2020 Census outreach campaign launched

By Phil Orlandella

Making Boston count in the 2020 census is the goal of Boston Mayor Martin Walsh who along with non-profit leaders and community members launched a year-long outreach campaign to have a fair and complete count in the 2020 US Census.

In order to do so, the City will invest an additional $100,000 in the FY 2020 budget to support Boston's outreach efforts by providing grants to community-based organizations and additional support from City departments.

The Mayor has appointed a census liaison within his administration and is kicking off his campaign a year in advance in order to make sure every Boston resident is counted.

The census should affect many things from representation in Congress, Federal funds for schools, affordable housing, infrastructure and health care programs.

Making Boston residents aware of the 2020 census, is important in preparing them to participate is the main thrust of this endeavor, according to City Hall representatives.

This year's census faces unprecedented challenges that could widely impact the City.

The Mayor is encouraging a collaborative effort to make sure all Bostonians participate in the 2020 Census by being counted.

Mayor Walsh and community leaders vow to make Boston count in the 2020 census.

we've taken steps to expand access to high-quality pre-K.

We've invested in new pre-K seats every single year since 2014, despite constraints on our budget and available classroom space. In our most recent budget for FY19, we designated $850,000 to develop 80 pre-K seats, together with community partners.

We learned that community-based organizations are central to our UPK strategy. We wanted to make sure we were building something to last and truly serve our communities. And today, we're providing more options for working families, right in their own neighborhoods. Because of our work, over the last six years, our initial gap of 1,500 seats has been cut in half. And now, this new fund will help us close the remaining gap, and achieve Universal high-quality Pre-Kindergarten in the City of Boston.

This isn't just about making enough seats available -- because if that were the case, we could have already achieved Universal Pre-K. This is about ensuring that every single pre-K seat we offer is a high-quality one that closes opportunity and outcome gaps -- and gives all of our children an equal chance at a strong start in life.

Our work isn't done. We're going to continue to develop our programs and pay attention to the needs of our students. We're going to continue to seek partnerships to help us make our programs even better.

Any time we can make an investment in a young person, it's a step forward for our entire city.

And it's an investment worth making.

FOCCP HOLDS HAVE FUN IN THE GARDENS

Groups meet on Wednesdays from 8:30 AM to 9:30 AM and Sundays from 9:30 AM to 11 AM at the gorgeous Rose Garden and Crescent Garden.

There is no experience needed, tools,

PIECE-FUL VOICES AT OLD NORTH CHURCH

In honor of Women History Month, The Old North Church has extended its Piece-ful Voices exhibit through April 30, from 9 AM to 6 PM daily.

The exhibit celebrates quilting as an expression of community.

Quilts featured were made in honor of post-9/11 fallen soldiers from the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, in the same manner of the US Sanitary Commission quilts created by Northern women during the American Civil War.

The active quilting as a community for the purpose of public memorial lifts this beyond the domestic.

The artistry, the manual labor, the laughter, the heartache, the true humanness of each scrap of fabric makes these quilts so compelling.

The exhibit is free with admission.

FOCCP HOLDS SPRING MEMBERSHIP SOCIAL

Friends of Christopher Columbus Park (FOCCP) held a successful membership drive at Tia's Restaurant on the Waterfront.

Memberships are vital to helping FOCCP, in collaboration with the Boston Parks and Recreation Department, to maintain the beauty of the park and support all of the fun events held throughout the year.

As always FOCCP's membership social was a fun event and an opportunity to learn more about the non-profit organization and meet old and new friends at the same time.

MBTA Pilot Seeks Mobility Device Companies

A licensing pilot for mobility device companies seeking to place devices on the MBTA has been launched.

The pilot seeks to encourage and expand mobility options that help people get where they need to go and increase access to public transit for current and potential transit riders.

As the region continues to experience the introduction on the variety of new devices like electric-assisted bicycles, electronic scooters and more, the pilot establishes a process to ensure the MBTA can embrace mobility devices in a safe and orderly manner.

More Wheelchair Accessible Vehicles

A one-year pilot program has started that will provide financial incentives to transportation network companies in an effort to increase availability of wheelchair-accessible vehicles.

MassDOT and the MBTA noted, during the pilot, Uber and Lyft will receive a subsidy on a per hour basis for every hour that wheelchair-accessible vehicles are available for use.

"The pilot is an innovative way to expand the availability of accessible vehicles through the use of existing technology," MassDOT Secretary and CEO Stefanie Pollack said.

Investments to Address Housing Needs

Expanding access to affordable housing opportunities and combating chronic homelessness in Boston, part of Mayor Martin Walsh's commitment has gained financial support.

The Mayor has announced $20.6 million in City funds to support housing outfits as part of the Fiscal Year 2020 (FY 20) operating budget proposal. This is an increase of approximately $6.4 million or 45 percent in the FY 20 operating budget for housing over last year.

Major Investments for Transportation

In the City's proposed Fiscal Year 2020 (FY 20) budget and capital plan with a focus on improving safe, reliable and equitable transportation, Boston Mayor Martin Walsh proposes investments for pedestrian, cyclists and commuters.

Investments include: $4 million in Boston's Walkable Streets, $2 million in bike infrastructure and $500 thousand to create new public plazas.

"Investing in transportation that works for everyone, is our key goal as we continue to improve transportation in Boston," Mayor Walsh said.

Updated Supervised Driving Program

The Parent's Supervised Driving Program has been updated and is currently available at statewide full-service Registry of Motor Vehicle Service Centers and online.

MassDOT, Registry of Motor Vehicles in collaboration with Safe Roads Alliance and program sponsors Safety Insurance, Toyota North America, and the Massachusetts National Guard to update the program.

Former North Ender author of World War II encounters views from a child firsthand experience

By Phil Orlandella

Carmine Vittoria, a former North End resident that resided at North Square has authored his first non-scientific book "Bitter Chicory to Sweet Espresso." A metaphor for the hard and better times of World War II encounters in the Naples area of Italy, through the eyes of a child-Carmine himself.

The book is not the usual adult version or perspectives of what happened in the town of Avella which sits at the critical junction point on the slopes of the Apennine mountains.

Vittoria believes that the full story of the war in the Naples area "has yet to be told", and the book "sheds light on some of the events of that time".

Many favorable reviews have

been written on the book that covers the years from 1940 to 1949 in Italy regarding Vittoria's knowledge of what he saw and heard back then in his town of Avella.

"Through these personal experiences set against the backdrop of history, Vittoria is able to place readers in a child's shoes by offering them the perspective of an aging man," Miles Ryan Fisher, Editor in Chief of the Italian-American Magazine said.

Several newspapers and magazines, most of them Italian publications, have interesting and positive things to say about Vittoria's recollections as a child during the war.

David Cavaliere, of the Italian Tribune Newspaper said, "The book is remarkably well received and expertly written."

The book provides different perspectives of the war than anything a reader is likely to have experienced before.

Based on all different reviews and a lengthily overview of the book has produced a true-life experience that embarks on the road of a very young and observant child.

Vittoria is a Professor Emeritus in the studies of Microwave Magnetic Materials at a Boston University. He has authored science books, one soccer book and over 400 scientific publications in peer-reviewed journals.

He is a Life Fellow of the Institute of Electronic and Electrical Engineering (IEEE) a Fellow of the American Physical Society (APS) and the recipient of many science awards.

2019 return of Trillium Garden on the Rose Kennedy Greenway

Trillium Brewing Company and Rose Kennedy Greenway Conservancy has announced the return of Trillium Garden on The Greenway. Trillium Brewing Company planted roots on the Rose Kennedy Greenway in downtown Boston in partnership with the Rose Kennedy Greenway Conservancy for the first time in 2017 and returned in 2018 to great acclaim. The seasonal garden welcomes a mix of residents, commuters and tourists and creates one of a kind experiences for beer lovers.

Trillium Garden on The Greenway was Boston's first fully open-air beer garden and an extension of Trillium's mission to build a strong community and create destinations for celebrating a variety of life's moments. Trillium's brewing capabilities have expanded and now guests of the garden can enjoy a wider variety of beers on draft that pair perfectly with the warmer weather and longer days. This season's highlights will include light and refreshing new signature lagers, as well as their rotating Fresh Press selections, which feature Trillium Wild Ale combined with fresh pressed juices, like cucumber & pear, strawberry & watermelon and watermelon & mint. NEMPAC’S PERFORM-A-THON MUSIC CELEBRATION RAISES FUNDS & AWARENESS

The North End Music & Performing Arts Center (NEMPAC) brought families together on Sunday, April 7, at the Improv Asylum in the North End of Boston with four-straight hours of music performance to benefit music scholarships and educational programs. NEMPAC students and faculty, families and friends, came together to support quality and accessible music education.

NEMPAC raised a total of $15,500 thanks, in part, to more than 80 music students and instructors who enthusiastically showcased their talent—individually or in group performances—and collected pledges for their performances to support the NEMPAC Music Scholarship Fund and Educational Programs!

Spotlight performances featured NEMPAC music programs such as the Eliot Band, Eliot Ensemble, Eliot Choir, Music Theatre Troupe, and Kids Music Theatre.

To-date, this year NEMPAC has awarded a total of $11,569 in need-based Youth Music & Arts Scholarships, $3,600 of which are from the Marshall Scholarship Fund and $7,969 of which are from the NEMPAC Scholarship Fund. The funds allow more than 20 children the opportunity to participate in private lessons, after-school music classes, or to experience week-long intensive summer music camps. The demand for financial support to participate in NEMPAC educational programs has never been greater!

The NEMPAC Performathon 2019 was generously supported by Matching Sponsors including Core Properties Group, Bridget D’amore Scholarship Fund, North End Athletic Association, Eamon O’Marah, Margaret & Bud Ris, and Andrea & Arthur Waldstein. Thanks to the generosity of these sponsors, all student pledges raised were matched up to $8,000. In addition, thanks to the Perform-a-thon event sponsors including the Improv Asylum, Manda & Me Catering, and the North End Grille, as well as over 50+ local businesses who contributed to the raffles.

For more information about NEMPAC, please visit www.nempacboston.org.
